Memorial Methodist Church

The annual school of missions began last Sunday evening at 5:45 o'clock with a most encouraging attendance and much interest in the Home and Foreign Missionary studies. Mrs. J. N. Jennings, chairman of the Commission on Missions, is in general charge, assisted by the entire Commission.

The Primary and Junior groups are being directed by Mrs. M. A. Herndall and using the textbooks respectively, "Stevie — Other Eyes" a study of the Church's ministry to the blind; and "Land of Sinone" a discussion of the church ministry to the deaf.

The Junior and Seniors, under the direction of Mrs. C. T. Moses, Jr. are pursuing the textbook: "Four Prom Moonbeam" showing the impact of Christianity on the Rim of East Asia, and this group is showing marked interest in the mission fields in this area of the world.

The Adults, with Mrs. Jennings as general chairman, in charge is discussing the church - wide mission study book: "Arms Of Compassion", lifting up the church's ministry to persons with handicaps: the deaf and the blind, the persons in isolated areas of our nation, the lonely, neglected individuals of our large cities, the sick and the aging in hospitals and homes provided by the church, the ministry of the church to orphan children and children from broken homes as they are cared for in Children's Homes across our country. Last Sunday evening Mrs. Jennings led the discussion and presented a movie showing the work of Goodwill Industries. Next Sunday evening, Mrs. Ivey Holland will lead the discussion and on the evenings of Jan. 27th and Feb. 3rd, Mrs. H. D. Fulks and Mr. James A. Smith will be in charge of the discussions.

"The Church — Worshipping" will be the subject of the minister's morning sermon, with the Chapel Choir furnishing special anthem selections.

The Rev. Mr. Alfred Schrader, pastor of the Lutheran Mission District Church, Lynchburg, will present an illustrated sermon on the Theme of Missions in Korea at the evening worship service, 7:30 o'clock, with the Sanctuary Choir furnishing special music.

Monday evening, Jan. 14, the Commission on Education, Mrs. David M. Trent, chairman, will convene at 7:30 o'clock, for very important agenda concerning the leadership and workers' training for the Church School.

The Methodist Men will meet, January 15th at 6:30 o'clock, p.m. for Supper - Fellowship, and interesting program, under the leadership of Horace D. Folks, president.

The Lynchburg District Conference will be held in Memorial Church, Sunday afternoon and evening, January 20th, an inspiring occasion for the 100 churches of the District.

Seventh-Day Adventist Church
Endurance — was the topic of Pastor Carpenter's first sermon of the New Year last Sabbath, Jan. 5, 1963. The key text is found in Rev. 14:12, "Here is the patience of the saints: Here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus". John is here speaking of the church just prior to the second coming for in verses 14-16 he gives us a pen picture of the Son of Man sitting upon a cloud, and saying to the angel, "Thrust in thy sickle and reap, for the time is come for thee to reap, for the harvest of the earth is ripe." We are told that in the time of the end, there will be prosecutions and a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation. Dan. 12:1 Pastor Carpenter said, "One has likened it unto the time of Jacob's trouble, when he wrestled all night with the angel at Peniel but endured till morning and won a great victory. Gen. 32: 24-32. He continues — We must have the spirit Jesus had in Luke 9:-51 "And it came to pass when the time was come that he should be received up, he stedfastly set his face to Jerusalem." John also reminds us in Rev. 12:17 of the dangers of the times just ahead of us." and the dragon was wroth with the woman and went to make war with the remnant of her seed which keep the commandments of God and have the testimony of Jesus Christ."

Here again Pastor Carpenter admonished in a strong way the importance of patient endurance and steadfastness if we are to enter in through the gates into the city of God. We must first prepare and properly relate ourselves to meet the situation by setting higher standards and with determination pressing on toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus ,Remembering the words of Jesus — "But, he that shall endure to the end, the same shall be saved." Mait. 24:13.

Carver Price High School News

In a few days Congress convenes in its 88th session; a socio-cultural process developed by a people seeped in the heritage of democracy. In a highly competitive society we guard with great care our privileges and pass this guardianship on to our prosterity.

Carver Price High School follows this in its curriculum through offerings in the Social Studies Group. Every student is required to take such subjects exposing him to the socio - cultural background, past and present along with the great technological advances that keep our country strong.

The unity of strength and oneness enhances the desire of the competitive spirit to achieve, obey and respect the principles as layed down by the Constitution of the United States.

Wool's Care

If wool garments are cared for properly they will last longer and will look neater and more attractive. Here are some of the things to do in order to care for them properly.

Hang the garment on a well-shaped hanger so the contour falls into place, and so it hangs free to avoid wrinkling. Air woolens frequently to make the fabric have a new, fresh look. Dust particles should be brushed away often. Schedule the wearing of a garment so there is at least 24 hours between wearings to allow the fabric to return to its original shape.

Some wool materials are washable, but some must be dry-cleaned. Whichever method is the proper one, the garment should not be allowed to become badly soiled before using it.

Steam is necessary when pressing wool garments, and a press cloth must always be used. A steam iron is the easiest way of getting the steam, but be sure to set the control for wool. Moisture should never be applied directly to the garment. Wool should always be pressed, not ironed. To press, use the iron in a lifting and lowering motion, with a light touch.

Check for loose buttons or any needed fasteners, darn or patch holes, and stitch rips as soon as possible.

Marble Cosmetics

Marble may be stone, but it still stains and soils.

However, marble tabletops, counters, and floors are easy to care for.

Wipe off anything spilled on marble immediately — just as you would from a wood furnishing.

Occasionally, wash marble surfaces with lukewarm water and a clean cloth. Dry with a chamois or soft dry cloth to prevent spots or streaks.

If your holiday guests should happen to spill coffee or tea on your marble table and it leaves a stain, despair not. Coffee and tea stains can be removed by first washing the surface with warm water, then applying hydrogen peroxide and a few drops of household ammonia to the stained area. Wipe the entire surface with a damp cloth after the stain disappears. Then wipe dry.

Menu Fun

Varying menus helps making cooking fun instead of just a dreary task.

It's easy to incorporate variety in your menus. And you don't need to try a new recipe every day. For instance, you can follow an old favorite recipe, but add a new cooking liquid, a new seasoning, or a new garnish.

Perhaps you habitually prepare round steak as Swiss steak. In addition to the onion and tomatoes, you might add green pepper rings to the meat, or sliced olives, or thinly sliced mushrooms.

You might cut the steak into individual servings, top with a bread stuffing to which you've added a bit of grated apple, and roll. Pasten the rolls with round wooden picks and then braise as you do a Swiss steak, using water instead of tomatoes as the cooking liquid.

Next time you prepare a pot roast, instead of the usual vegetables try some new ones, such as green pepper rings, squash, or cauliflower. Prepare the pot roast without vegetables and serve with potato pancakes, Spanish rice, or noodles garnished with chopped parsley.

Colorful garnishes also set off your meat dish. Let your dinner vegetable serve as a garnish. For example, green pepper rings filled with whole kernel corn, cheese topped broiled tomato halves, or stuffed potatoes.

To take care of the magazines that seem to pile up, try a big flat basket, a hanging magazine rack, or a row of overlapping magazines on a table.

Use felt strips on the bottoms of ash trays and vases to protect furniture surfaces.

Prefers Turkey

John Goin, of Hixburg, was out hunting turkeys last month and came upon a buck and a doe lying down. He didn't shoot the buck, although he has a license and had not shot his legal limit.

In reporting the incident he said merely that he prefers turkey. However, he didn't get any that day, Dec. 26, because other hunters had evidently flushed all the turkeys in the area.

Five Types Tobacco Grown In County

Five types of tobacco are grown in Appomattox County according to the Appomattox office of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

They are burley, flue cured, flue cured, Maryland, and Virginia sun cured tobacco. The largest number of allotments, more than 700, is for fire cured tobacco, or "dark tobacco", as it is known locally.

Someone in the United States dies of tuberculosis every half-hour.
